15000 RESERVED FOR THE

The second day's races on the National Course ere all that could be desired, and were the admiration of all who witnessed them. The first race was two mile heats, between Garrett Davis, Wild Irishman, and Sam Letcher, the dirst named winning very handily in two straight heats. Wild Irishman was the favorite against the field previous to the start, at one hundred to fitty; but after the first heat, Gar-rett Davis was offered at almost any odds. The second race was between two young Glencoes, a filly and the cost Henry, mile heats. Henry had the call in betting, at one hundred to thirty, before they exhibited their speed; but after the first heat one hundred to thirty were current on the filly. A very large amount of money was posted on this event. In one group of sporting men we saw $15,090 staked, besides numerous scattering wagers in small amounts. There seemed a perfect frenzy to bet on this affair, the losers on Wild Irishman endeavoring to recover their losses on Henry. Numbers went home with lighter pockets than they took with them in the morning. Both races were fixely contested, as will be seen below.

The attendance was not so large as on the preceding day, no doubt occasioned by the neglect of the persons having charge of the advertising to have the entries for the day announced in the daily journals. The persons who were there were all respectable and orderly, and the best feeling seemed to pervade the entire crowd. A goodly number of ladies graced the stane, all appearing to enjoy the sports of the turf, and evincing a determination to make the enterprise flourish and prosper. The accommodations for ladies are faultless, and when they once are sure that improper persons will be excluded from the course-which will be done in all cases, proper officers having been engaged for the purpose then we expect to see that portion of the stand devoted to the ladies crowded with the beauty and fashion of the land.

The police force under Squire Boyd-sixty in number-are very vigilant, and maintain the strictest order in and about the premises. The only thimble-rigger that was seen in the neighborhood yesterday was arrested and lodged in prison, and he probably would not have been there but for the fictitious stories of one of our cotemporaries, who persuaded him that he could carry on his profession without molestation. The course is entirely free from every species of gaming, save betting on the races, and professional gamblers of all kinds keep at a respectable distance from Squire Boyd and his officers.

At the time appointed for the races to commence, the bugle sounded for the layers to get in readings.

At the time appointed for the races to commence, the bugle sounded for the howest to get in readiness, and in a few moments they were led to the track. The jockeys were then weighed, and instructions given them in relation to the race; and the summons to saddle was heard, the track cleared by Squire Boyd, and the horses came up for the First Heat.—Sam Letcher won the pole, Wild Irishman the next place, Garrett Davis outside. They were started very nicely, Sam Letcher taking the lead, closely followed by Garrett Davis, although as hard in hand as the strength of the boy would perma, oashed in front of Sam Letcher on the backstretch, notwithstanding that the latter was doing his best; seeing which, Gil Patrick, the rider of Wild Irishman, put his horse to his speed, and soon was in front of Letcher. Gil made play to close the gap between himself and the sorrel horse, but the faster he went the swifter ran Garrett Davis; he would not be approached. His style of running is vigorous and graceful, his stride immense, and his rider seemed to have no control over him. He was bound to win. He came up the homestretch, and passed the stand three or four lengths shead of Wild Irishman, in 1.50, Sam Letcher falling off badly. On the turn, Garrett Davis opened the gap in ascending the hill to half a dozen lengths, which he continued to maintain down the backstretch and around the lower turn; but, swinging on the straight stretch home, bis rider, in the endeavor to keep him back, pulled him off his balance, and he came near falling. It was a moment or two before he straightened him again, and by this time Wild Irishman was within two or three lengths of him. He, however, opened once more, and came rushing past the stand, three or four lengths in front of the other, making the last mile in 1.564, and the heat in 3:464.

As soon as the heat was over, the backers of Wild Irishman were seen moving to and fro, looking for a chance to "bedge." their high hopes of Wild Irishman were seen moving to and fro, looking

As soon as the heat was over, the backers of while frishman were seen moving to and fro, looking for a chance to "hedge," their high hopes of Wild Irishman's prowess having entirely vanished. Gar-rett Davis was offered at great odds—100 to 30— but there were no takers. He was acknowledged a but there were no takers. He was acknowledged a winner beyond a doubt.

Second Heat.—The horses did not get away the first time they came to the stand; but a second attempt was more successful, and they dashed off at a rapid rate, all in a heap. Garrett began to show in front as he got into straight work, with Sam Letcher at his girth, Wild Irishman trailing as before. Garrett and Sam ran lapped in this way to the lower turn, when Garrett, seeming to tire of Sam's associations. turn, when Garrett, seeming to tire of Sam's associathen ran up to Sam, and also passed him, opening a gap of two or three lengths. gap of two or three lengths. Sam began to show distress. Garrett Davis passed the stand a couple of lengths in front of Wild Irishman, hard in hand, in 1:50½. On the upper turn his strides were increased, and he drew away farther from the others, and was half a dozen lengths ahead of Wild Irishman on the back stretch, Sam growing worse and worse. Gil Patrick urged the Irishman, and he worked admirably; but the vigorous, steady strides of Garrett were too much for him—he could not keep pace with them, and was beaten in consequence. Garrett Davis made the last mile in 1:54½, and the heat in 3:45. Sam Letcher was distanced.

The above race being over, the horses for the second race were called. Their backers began to make their offers, and in a few moments the whole tracs in front of the stand was filled with financiers, as busy as bees, in arranging their accounts for the coming struggle. Three horses were announced to contend; but one of them—Little Arthur—having been matched against Ellen Bateman, he did not come to the post, leaving the race to two of the Glencoe family, brether and sister, to decide which was the best. They looked much alike both bright sorrels. The colt being rather the larger, and apparently the most powerful, he became the favorite at high odds. The filly is finely made up, and looks a racer at every point. More money was bet on this race than on any other of the meeting.

First Heet.—The colt Henry won the pole, but soon after leaving the stand the filly took it from him and opened a wide gap on the turn. On the backstretch the running of the filly was far superior to that of Henry. She possessed more speed, and her style and action were faultless. The coit is not a graceful runner, and will never make a first cluss racer. The filly beat him home half a dozen lengths, notwithstanding that she was pulled nearly double the whole of the last quarter. Time, 1:54½.

Second Heat—Those who laid the odds on Henry were in more trouble no than were the backers of wild Irishman after the first hent

ENVIOLENCE PROPERTY.

Remission of Daties.

[From the Washington Union, June 25.]

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONESS,
9 Lancaster Place, London, June 8, 1854.

As many citizens of the United States have a claim against the British government for the return of duties improperly levied, and as the grounds of the claim and the time when it originated, seemed not to be understoot in the United States, I beg to address the claimants through your paper, in order to save the trouble to them and myself.

Their claim arises under the second article of the treaty of commerce between the United States and Great Britsin, concluded at London, July 3, 1815. That treaty, among other things, provides that "no higher or other duties or charges be imposed in either of the two countries on the exportations of any articles to the United States, or to his Britannic Majesty's territories in Europe respectively, than such as are payable on the exportation of the like articles to any other foreign country.

From the conclusion of this treaty, Great Britain received on woollen goods going to the United States ten shillings per cent ad valorem, notwithstanding she permitted the same goods to be exported to certain other countries free of this duty. This violation of the treaty was discovered by Mr. Charles Barry, now of Meriton's wharf. Bermonsey, London, who on the part of the shippers of the goods remonstrated against it, and in the year 1830 the duty ceased to be a violation of the treaty, because the British government then put the United States upon the footing of the med favored mation.

Mr. Barry, on behalf of the shippers, obtained copies of the entries showing the payment of this duty for the time indicated, and claimed its return. The claim was allowed from 1823 to 1839, and the money paid over to the shippers; and if the American merchants have not received their shares of this money, it is probably because the shippers have been usable to find them.

There now remains a claim for the return of this duty from 1815 to 1823, and this claim is now before t

Sad End of the Romance.

[From the Synacuse standard, June 25.]

It gives us pain to record the tragic and melancholy termination of the romantic attachment and marriage of Fletcher Woodward, of this city, with Miss Susan Denin, the actress. Mr. Woodward has resided in Synacuse nearly all his life; and thou the young in years, he has always merited the confidence and esteem of those who knew him; and we believe all his acquaintances will sympathise with him in his unpleasant position. Miss Susan Denin was an actress of rare merit, whose education and early associations were somewhat peculiar, and who had little opportunity to learn anything of human nature beyond the illusive stage exhibitions of it-among which the was born and educated. While we condemn her conduct, let us throw the mantle of charity over her faults, and attribute them to the circumstances that surrounded her from her birth, rather than any innate propensity to vice. But the mischief has been done, and cannot be remedied; and we shall welcome Mr. Woodward to our city, and hope in the excitement of business he may forget the fabre or e if he does not forgive the seducer.

We have heard the story from several persons who have arrived from Cahironia, which does not differ materially from that given by the Troy Budget. [Published in the Herallo of yesterday.]

Since the above was in type, we have conversed with Mr. Van Alstyne, of Liverpool, who returned from Cahironia on the same boat with Mr. Woodward. We learn from Mr. V. that there was no actual separation between Mr. Woodward and Sussan previous to leaving San Francisco, but that Woodward was displeased at the intimacy existing between his wite and Bingbann, and desired to bring her home to her friends. Kate did not leave San Francisco, but remained in California. On the passage, considerable feeting was evinced by the passengers who had become familiar with the circumstance. They endeavore

Convicted of Sentetion.—The first conviction in Jefferson county, under the seduction laws of 1848, was obtained last week against W. A. Jenkins, of Ellisburg, charged with seducing Miss Sarah Chafins of the same town, under promise of marriage, in April, 1852, soon after which he was complained of by the overseers of the poor, in bastardy, before Dexter Wilder, Esq., who, upon hearing the evidence, made an order of affiliation against him, from which he appealed to the Sessions; and on the appeal a full and laborious trial was had, and the order of Mr. Wilder affirmed. Subsequently he was indicted. The evidence showed that in the month of April, 1852, he seduced her under promise of marriage, and teat in Jaruary following she was delivered of a child, the result of the illicit intercourse. The prisoner produced quite a number of witnesses to show that at the time alleged he was visiting Miss C. he was at hince or elsewhere. The jury were out about two and a hali hours, and returned with a verdict of guity. Sentence was suspended until Monday morning, when his counsel made a motion to stay sectence until a bill of exceptions could be taken and the case revised by the Supreme Coart; but the Court denied the motion, and sentenced the prisoner to the State prison at Auburn for three years. He is a young man, twenty-three years old, of very respectable parents, and since his indictions.

The Suicide of William Pierce, at Preston
Hollow-Strange Developements.

[From the Albany Atlas, June 23]
Last week we published the account of the suicide of William Pierce, as related to the Express by Deputy Sheriff St. John. We have received the following account of the transaction from Mr. Falk, together with a copy of a confession made by the deceased before committing the deed, attached:—

Prestor Mottow, June 22, 1854.

An awful tragedy has just transpired in Preston Hollow, Albany county, N. Y. The facts are these:—On the evening of the 3d of May last, about 11 o'clock, the clothing and wool carding works, ownel and occupied by William Pierce, of this village were destroyed by the valued at about 31,500, on which there was an insurance of $1,000, in the United States Insurance Co., of West Potsdam, N. Y., ending May 6th, 1854. Soon after the fire and on the 22d day of May last, Mr. Pierce made a statement of the fire and loss, and forwarded it to said company, as directed in his policy. Mr. P. on the 10th inst., worked on the highway, came home shout 4 o'clock in the afternor, milked his cow, shaved himself, combet his hair, and about sundown went to the barn with feed for his largs, (the had been in the habit of going to this br in to pray.) but staying so long, his wife wint to leain the cause of his long absence in the larm, and as she opened the door, she beld her husbend hanging by the neck. The alarm was given the editors rushed to the spot, and found Mr. His rehanging, and his neck dislocated. He was dead His funeral took place yesterday. His death caused great excitement. He leaves we and four children, to mosum his loss. Since the funeral, his brother in-law, in looking over the pecket book of the deceared, to see if he had given any resson for committing so horrible a deed, ciscovered a paper on which the following confession to the family, with a request to his counsel, Lawrence Falk, Esq.:—

CONFESSION.

To My Family—I wish to make a confession to the world that I fired my clothing works, on the 2d of May, without any of my family having any knowing of the same. And I see the great injustice I have done myself and family by injuring us all. My cesire is that the Almighty would be merciful to you all. And that your mighty would be merciful to you all. And that your neighbors would sympathize with you and comfort you in your suffering, and God have mercy on you, one and all. Life is a borden to me, after having committed so great a crime, and I desire not to live. Oan my children, take warning by this, let nothing tempt you. For the evil one, and your hearts, by nature, will lead you astray, therefore, ask the Almighay to gnide you and protect you throughout life. And may God grant you your desire. June 10th, 1854. WILLIAM PIERCE.

I wish Mr Falk, who is my counsel, to notify the insurance company of this, and that they ought not to pay or Le prosecuted for the insurance money. Jane 18th, 1854.

Excitement in Bedford, Ky.—Escape of Delia Weistre.—Miss Webster, as most of our readers klow, was indicted some years ago in Fayette county, for stealing or abducting a number of slaves. She was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary of the State for a term of years, and was pardoned out by Governor Crittenden after she had served but a small portion of the time for which she was sentenced. Recently some of these old indictments have been revived, and a warrant was issued for the appehension of Miss Webster, which was served, but the lady being very sick, could not be removed. Uncer these circumstances a guard of three men was as jointed to remain, tend and watch her. The guard slept at their poets or were careless, and Miss Webster escaped. It was rumored at Bedford on Tucsday that a party of men had the season of the river form Madson, and released Miss Webster by force. The rum r caused great excitement in that place.—

Louisville Times, June 23.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—William Peel was smothered to death, on Saturday atternoon, by the caving in of a well which he was digging for Naylor's refectory, at Red Bank. He was in an instant covered with earth to the depth of six or eight feet; and although the most desperate exertions were immediately made for his recovery, near an hour elapsed before he was exhumed, perfectly dead. The unfortunate man lost his life by his own perverseness, as he was several times importuned by the proprietor to put in the shield to the well, which was prepared for him, but refused the entreaty, and perished from his temerity. He leaves a wife and two young children.—Philadeiphia Pennsylvanian.

PACEAGES IMPROPERLY CHARGED WITH LETTER PACKAGES IMPROPERLY CHARGED WITH LETTER POSTAGE.—We have recently had occasion to ascertain that under the postal laws and regulations, when a scaled package, chargeable with letter postage, is open d in presence of a postmaster, and found to contain printed matter only, without anything secreted therein, he may remit the letter postage, and deliver the package at the rates charged for printed matter.—Washington Star, June 26.

IDENTITY OF PENSIONERS.—It is held in the Treasury Department, in settling pension accounts, that when application is made for arrears of pension, under the act of July 19, 1840, or when several children are embraced in the pension certificate, the oath of identity prescribed by the forms and instructions of September, 1846, is not required from the mall, but only from the one who may be authorized by regular power of attorney from the others to receive the pension money due.—Washington Star, June 26.

The Hoo Trade.—During the fifty-eight days of navigation, there have been over 40,000,000 pounds of lard, jork and bacon received at tide water, by way of the caral—an increase of 6,000,000 pounds over last year.—Albuny Argus.
